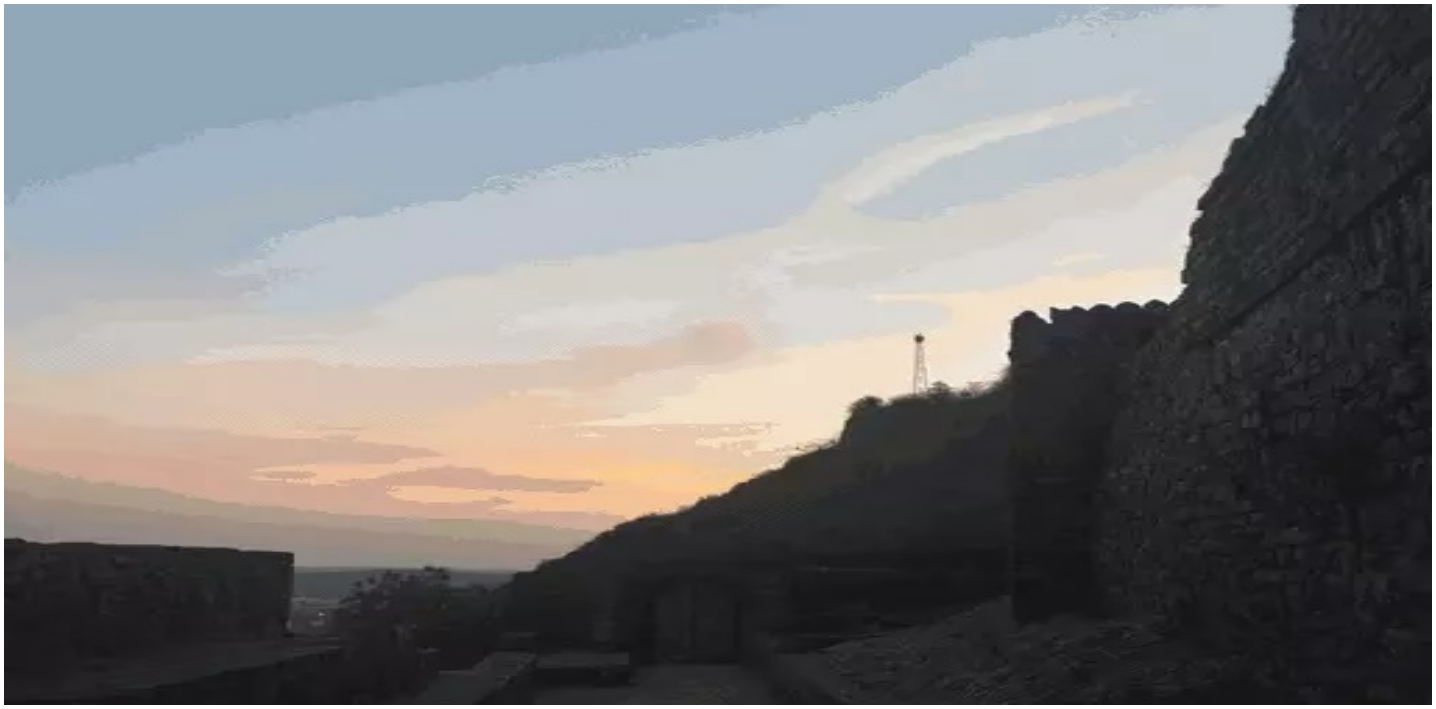
Weather will change before Diwali, heavy rain alert in MP

Published: 25 Oct 2026



The weather in Madhya Pradesh will change again before Diwali. The Meteorological Department (IMD) in Bhopal has issued a heavy rain alert for the eastern part on October 28. According to the weather department, a low-pressure area is currently active over the Bay of Bengal, which will intensify in the coming days and turn into a deep depression. Its impact will also be seen in the state.

Because of this, on October 28, parts of the state are expected to have heavy to light rain in different areas. There are chances of heavy rain in Shahdol, Anuppur, Dindori, Mandla, and Balaghat. Meanwhile, in Gwalior, Bhind, Datia, Shivpuri, Guna, Ashoknagar, Jabalpur, Katni, Narsinghpur, Chhindwara, Pandhurna, Seoni, Rewa, Satna, Sidhi, Singrauli, Mauganj, Maihar, Umaria, Sagar, Panna, Damoh, Chhatarpur, Tikamgarh, and Niwari, there will be thunderstorms, drizzle, and cloudy skies. On the other hand, in the Bhopal, Indore, Narmadapuram, and Ujjain divisions, the weather will remain clear with sunny skies during the day.
