- Ashok Sharma is proving to be a good omen for SADA

Gwalior. The days are about to turn around for the Special Area Development Authority (SADA). Various investors have already submitted proposals worth 55,000 crore for the proposed TMZ (Telecom Manufacturing Zone) in SADA. The visit of Union Home Minister Amit Shah on November 15 for the foundation-laying ceremony of TMZ is almost finalized. Preparations for it have also begun.

Gwalior is now rapidly advancing in the field of development. Through the combined efforts of Union Communications Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia and Chief Minister Dr. Mohan Yadav, the once deserted area of SADA, neglected for three decades, is about to see a wave of development. The state government and SADA have received investment proposals worth over 55 thousand crores for TMZ. These proposals may increase further by the time of the ground-breaking ceremony. SADA Chairman Ashok Sharma is also working day and night to prepare for the ground-breaking program for TMZ. SADA, which joined the Counter Magnet Project of the Special Area Development Authority 35 years ago, was only being disbursed until now. But now, with the joint efforts of Union Minister Scindia and Chief Minister Dr. Mohan Yadav, SADA is moving towards becoming the country’s first multi-purpose TMZ center. Big telecom equipment and chip-manufacturing companies from across India are coming to Gwalior for TMZ.

Ashok Sharma is SADA's good luck charm

Ever since Ashok Sharma was crowned as the president of SADA, the fortune of SADA has been changing. SADA, which had been deserted for decades, has seen countless dreams of projects, but now it's the first time that the dream of revitalizing SADA is about to come true. After taking over as president, Ashok

Sharma has started the efforts to change the face of SADA. With a staff of only about 3-4 members, he is successfully moving SADA forward. People have now started saying that Ashok Sharma has changed the face of SADA after taking charge. Earlier, as the vice president of the Gwalior Mela Authority, Ashok Sharma had already taken the Gwalior fair to its peak. This is the reason why Central Minister Scindia got him appointed as SADA president from his quota.
