Madhya Pradesh government will take a loan of 3,000 crore!

Published: 14 Nov 2026

Bhopal | The Madhya Pradesh government is going to take a loan for the second time in the month of November. Yes, on November 17, the Mohan government will take a loan of 3,000 crore rupees. The special thing is that so far 15,573 crore rupees have also been repaid. Besides this, a big claim has also been made regarding the Ladli Bahna scheme.

According to the information, this loan will be taken through the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) under the borrowing limit set by the central government. The government will take this amount in three separate parts of 1,000 crore rupees each. For the financial year 2026-27, the central government has set Madhya Pradesh's total borrowing limit at around 87,000 crore rupees. Of this, the market loan limit for the first nine months is approved at 58,274 crore rupees. By the second week of November, the state government has taken a loan of 48,900 crore rupees. While by the second week of November in 2026-27, 15,573 crore rupees have been repaid as interest.

The state government mainly uses the money they get from loans for building irrigation projects, roads and expressways, electricity infrastructure, and other long-term assets. At the same time, the state government has claimed that the money from loans is not used to cover the revenue expenses of welfare schemes like the Laadli Behna scheme and the Chief Minister Kisan Welfare program.
